

New Boston Weekly

Our Locals

Good morning New Boston,
this week we opened the new pizzeria in town finally after some time. Hopefully this one sticks around for a while. Iron Mike's has a new menu item for the first time in five years. Go in and try it, it's amazing!

Surrounding Cities

Over in Brownstown, a semi truck flipped over the other morning blocking traffic at one of the busiest intersections in town. Luckily, everyone was ok.

"We suspect the driver was trying to make an unnecessarily sharp turn causing him to flip." -BTW Fire

In Flatrock, a new restaurant is open, probably not as good as our lovely coney island but still worth a try, right?

That just about caps off our week! Hopefully every is doing great! The book of the week is The Great Gastby We will check back in next week with another update!
